

Finding employment opportunities

Explore private sector job boards

Just like in the public health system, the private health system in Victoria offers a wide range of career opportunities for graduate nurses and midwives.

These include roles in

- Acute private hospitals
- Aged care facilities
- Mental health services
- Community and primary health care
- Rural and regional private health services

Most graduate roles in the private sector are advertised directly by employers or through recruitment platforms, such as:

- SEEK
- Employer websites

Graduates can explore opportunities with some of the largest private health operators in Australia, including:

- Ramsay Health Care
- Healthscope
- Calvary Health Care
- Epworth Health Care

These organisations often run structured graduate programs and offer diverse clinical experiences across multiple sites.